Re; Peanut Butter Recall.

02/20/2007

This office would like to address local concerns, re; Salmonella contamination in Peter Pan and Great Value Peanut Butter.

As of Tue, Feb 20, there was only one confirmed case in Wyoming, (Big Horn County) and a few suspected cases. The cases appear to be mild and not life threatening as is usually the case with Salmonellosis. Salmonellosis presents as diarrhea, with low – mid fever, sometimes with cramps. Serious cases (of any diarrheal) infection should consult their Physician.

Care must be taken not to consume any peanut butter made by Peter Pan or Great Value with the numbers 2111xxxxxxxx printed on the top of the container lid. All other brands are currently considered safe. If your family possesses such a jar it should be thrown away immediately. A refund is available from ConAgra, call 866-344-6970 and send them the lid only. The FDA may be interested in unopened 2111..... jars for testing, contact this office if wanted , 367-2754.

For more detailed and recent information please see www.fda.gov or www.cdc.gov .
