PAP Scores

UNIQUE TO JENSEN ANGUS is that the sale bulls will have two PAP scores, one taken October 8, 2016 and the other as 18 month old bulls on December 8, 2017. Our PAP testing is done by Dr. Tim Holt, DVM.

Health

Our herd health protocol starts with our calves. Branding we use Vision 8, Vista Once and Multi Min 90. As weaned calves they are given Vision 8, Nasalgen, Multimin 90, Pyramid 5 Preponce, and poured. We have Dr. Tim Holt as our vet for PAP testing and consulting on all aspects of high altitude herd management. We poured the bulls in December when we PAP tested. Our local veterinarian is Dr. Tripp Applequist of Farson, WY. He does our fertility testing and BVD and Trich testing. The sale bulls were tested on December 18, 2017. We take great measures to have a good healthy herd of cattle!

Guarantee

First Year Breeding Guarantee:

All bulls selling in the sale are guaranteed sound, free from any genetic defect, and in good health. Our guarantee is for the first breeding season defined as a 90 day period following the first turnout of the bulls. All bulls selling for $5,000 or more will be covered 50% by Jensen Angus if they are injured during their first breeding season and unable to return to service during that first breeding season. Example: If a $5,000 bull is injured, then a credit of $2,500, minus one half of any salvage value, will be given to the buyer. ALL INJURED BULLS MUST BE DIAGNOSED BY A VETERINARIAN. Please notify us as soon as possible. All claims must be made by October 1, 2018. Please notify us as soon as possible if any injury occurs and also prior to the bull being sold for salvage.

Delivery

Please bring your trailers on sale day and make every effort to take bulls with you.

PAP Testing

By Dr. Tim Holt

Brisket Disease, also known as High Mountain Disease or Dropsy, is one of the Rocky Mountain region's most costly diseases. The disease is the result of elevated pulmonary arterial pressure caused from lack of oxygen and generally affects only animals at an elevation above 5000 feet.

Cattle differ in how they respond to oxygen shortage. Some are able to tolerate high pressures for a long period of time, while others die quickly. Brisket disease is not limited to one sex or breed, and has been found across all breeds including crossbreeds.

Pulmonary arterial pressures (PAP) are obtained by a procedure called "right heart catheterization." In this procedure, a fine plastic catheter is passed through a needle in the jugular vein, with blood flow into the upper right side of the heart, through a valve, into the right ventricle, through a valve, and into the pulmonary artery just short of the branches to the lungs. Pressure waves are observed on a heart monitor and the monitor gives a direct readout of the true average pressure.

There are two major concerns when evaluating PAP measurements in cattle. The first is the elevation of the test as previously discussed. The second is the age of the animal. Generally the older the animal at the time of testing the more accurate the PAP test. Any animal 11 months of age or older can be tested with a high degree of accuracy and repeatability. We have found that those animals greater than 14 months of age tend to be very accurate and reliable.

The PAP test is the best indicator (tool) available to date for identifying animals predisposed to Brisket Disease. The test is not 100% and should not be used as such. Generally, cattle with pressures of greater than 45 mmhg are considered at risk but other criteria such as age and elevation of test site should be considered. Test scores are not consistently accurate unless done at 6500 feet elevation or higher.

Research has shown that the heritability of Brisket Disease can be quite high, ranging from 42% - 84%. This indicates that cattlemen can successfully select against the disease by culling cattle with high pulmonary arterial pressures. In efforts to cut losses to Brisket Disease, cattlemen should identify those animals, specifically bulls, with high pulmonary arterial pressures and cull them from the herd or avoid adding them to the herd.

Healthy Heart/Brisket Disease

We dissected a healthy heart and a brisket diseased heart when we PAP tested. This video will be shown sale day during the preview of the bulls.

The Jensen Angus Difference

This is What We Do and Why We Do It!

We concentrate on having high altitude cattle that can perform well in any commercial situation. We develop our bulls with this in mind. They are structurally sound and easy fleshing, with a lot of natural muscle bred into them, not having been fed into them. Our bulls are active breeders that are able to cover cows and not “shade up” when they are turned out. They are genetically influenced to ensure a reliable PAP score to thrive at elevations greater than 6,500 feet.

The biggest difference is that we PAP test our heifers and the dams of our sale bulls. If you are truly committed to finding and remedying any problems with Brisket Disease in your herd, you must test your heifers! This single step has and will continue to be how we judge our replacements. All purchased heifers are PAP tested after at least a six month acclimation period. We do not just sell PAP tested bulls, we give you the whole genetic package, starting with the cow.

In summary, we want you to know that passion, hard work, and honesty go into everything we do at Jensen Angus. We are the “little herd that could”. We are a small family run operation. We do not think we know more or are better than any other seedstock producers, we just do things a little different. We just do high altitude cattle, period.

We would like to offer the opportunity to buy semen from our PAP tested sires at ORigen. Contact them for rates.

We Look Forward to Seeing You at the Sale!
